

The Challenge

In just five years since its inception, The Challenge Program has given $1,000,000 in incentives to 4,000 students from 110 schools.

“What we’ve been able to accomplish in a relatively short period of time is remarkable. We were able to grow so quickly, in part, because of the tremendous support of the community,” says Renee Shaw, director of program development.

To celebrate their anniversary and success, an awards dinner will be held on May 1 at the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown Living and Learning Center. It will include a reception and dinner, followed by a brief program at which the Zamias family will be honored for their steadfast support of the program.

According to Shaw, the Zamias family will receive the first annual “Golden Owl” award. The award will be given to those who exhibit the highest commitment to The Challenge Program’s mission of motivating students to perform well by providing financial incentives for successes they achieve while in school, as well as building a bridge between high school students and the business community. For ticket information or to learn more about The Challenge Program, call (814) 533-7401 or visit www.tcpinc.org. >>A.B.
